MRS. MARTIN RAGES IN COURT

WILD MAN WITH A GUN HAD PREVIOUSLY BEEN PUT OUT.

Everybody But Those Who Had to Be Present Turned Out When the Woman Began to Storm—Those Who Stayed Won't Talk Much of What Took Place.

Mrs. Caroline B. Martin, who is accused of murdering her daughter, Mrs. Ocey Snead, was a witness yesterday in Newark in the proceedings to determine her mental condition. Before the session began a man born in the South but a resident of Newark, suffering from homicidal mania, was found among the spectators with a loaded revovler in his possession. He was hurried out of the court room, and while alienists were adjudging him insane the questioning of Mrs Martin was under way, with the witness storming and raging in a villification of Judge Ten Eyek and all persons about her

The situation in the court room became so acute that everybody but the Judge, Prosecutor, lawyers, alienists and a stenographer was directed to leave. This included even the court clerk. Alone with the officials, whom from the outset she has characterized as her emies Mrs. Martin proved a stubborr witness and stolidly refused to answer questions put to her.

Oliver D. Matthews, a machinist, 70 years old, of 110 Halsey street, is the man who entered the court room with the revolver. He was remanded to jail on a charge of carrying concealed weapons pending application by Sheriff Harrigan for his commitment to an asylum. Matthews had been sitting on the court room talking to himself He said that he fought in the civil war with Mrs. Martin's brother under Gen. Hooker. He declared that he was going to rid the country of a certain class of foreigners. Constable James Reid, who overheard him, engaged him in conversation. Suddenly Matthews stood up and said:

"They are not treating Mrs. Martin right. If the Judge and Prosecutor were in the South they would have been shot long ago."

Reid appeared something bulging from Matthewa's coat and began to search

"Keep your hands off me." Matthews demands as the constable drew the revolver from his nocket. The pistol was ab old (ashioned one about a foot was an only assumed the about a foot long and iontained bullets of a2 cautire. Opside of the court room Matthews asked a constante to give to Mrs. Martin a bouquet he had brought for her. He said that he had carried the recolver for six months. He denounced the proceedings against Mrs. Martin and said he know her family and friends a decided the court of the control of the control of the court of the control of the control of the court of the knew her family and friends in the

Martin made her outburst just after the mestioning began. She started to cry. screamed and then jumped to her feet and threw off her veil and hurling it to the floor began her tirade. The doctors and lawyers tried to calm her, but she would not listen to them, and they all left the court room, leaving Mrs. Martin alone with the Judge and the sergeant-at-arms

The physicians are Dr. William Mabon Ward's Island, New York city; Dr. arry A. Cotton, superintendent of the New Jersey State Insane Asylum in Tren-ton, and Dr. Walter S. wer, a stenographer and another Samuel Katisch, counsel for Mrs Spead Samuel Kalisch, counsel for Mrs. Snead, suster of Mrs. Martin, who is detained for reial was the first of the day's witnesses. He said he could not get data from Mrs. Martin that would be useful in her detence in the murder trial. She apoke incoherently, he said, and jumped from one subject to another. He declared that when he asked for information about Ocey Snead Mrs. Martin would answer.
